

Forum Agenda

Personalised learning. What is it? How do we do it?

8 October 2014

8.30 - 9.10	Registration & Coffee Print and digital poster gallery available for viewing
9.10 – 9.15	Welcome: Professor Stephen Marshall, Director, Learning and Teaching Unit
9.15 – 10.00	Keynote: Professor Shirley Alexander, Deputy Vice Chancellor, University of Technology, Sydney
10.00 - 10.20	Q&A session: with keynote speaker, Professor Shirley Alexander
10.20 – 11.10	Poster Discussions & Morning Tea Opportunity to view print and digital poster gallery and speak with poster presenters
11.15 – 11.45	Stream Session 1
	Dr Abelardo Pardo (Engineering, University of Sydney) Using learning analytics to personalise a learning experience	A/Prof. Laura Shepherd (School of Social Sciences, Arts and Social Sciences) Making learning personal: using portfolio assessment to personalise learning in a ‘capstone’ course	Dr Isabella Dobrescu and Dr Alberto Motta (UNSW Business School) Playconomics: gamification for learning
11.50 – 12.20	Stream Session 2
	Dr Jason Mazanov (UNSW Canberra) Profiling student preferences for Moodle activities: implications for student learning and teaching practice	A/Prof. Cath Ellis, Associate Dean, Education (Arts and Social Sciences) Bespoke learning at scale: lessons from the future	A/Prof. Richard Buckland (Computer Science & Engineering) Building student communities: beyond participation to “something awesome”
12.30 – 1.30	Group Discussion Lunch will be available during the group discussion		